FUNCTION ROOM

FASHION DESIGN

Through the program, graduates are guaranteed to possess all the necessary knowledge and skills of an international fashion designer. Employers who recruit Fashion Design students from Hoa Sen University have affirmed their professional working ability after graduation. This is demonstrated through their ability to design, create samples, and diversify business in the field of apparel and fashion, such as designing Men's, Women's, and Children's clothing, underwear, accessories, and traditional costumes. Not only that, students are also highly evaluated for their organizational management, production, and fashion garment business for large domestic and international fashion brands, as well as their own personal businesses.

Job Opportunities

Graduates can excel in the field of fashion design, including Men's, Women's, Children's, Underwear, Knitted, etc. They can create fashion models, analyze and forecast fashion trends, shape fashion styles, and guide the development of fashion brands. They can also work as fashion editors, organize media events in the field of fashion, and design, manage, and conduct fashion business...
